Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 19 April 2004.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL.                      2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 7/16/04 is noted. The submission is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98. Accordingly, the examiner is considering the information disclosure statement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Viio (US 4,809,894 A).

Viio discloses a holder for an electric drill (col. 2 lines 46-50), said holder comprising a length of rigid wire shape to have a generally U-shaped horizontal base (10) having laterally spaced side portions connected by a bight portion at the rear, the base having an open front end, the side portions having ends remote from the bight portion extending into respective substantially vertical laterally spaced upright portions (13,14), and at least one of the upright portions extending at its upper end into a reverse bend (15,16) a downwardly extending clip portion (17,18) adjacent to the respective upright portion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Viio as applied above in view of Estabaya (US 6,994,238 B2).

Viio discloses a drill holder with the claimed structure and teaches that the drill holder is attached to the user's apparel, but fails to specifically state that the drill holder is attached to a user's belt or waistband. Viio also fails to recite the claimed components of an electric drill and the specific manner in which the drill is supported by the holder.

Regarding the holder being attached to a user's belt or waistband, Estabaya also discloses a drill holder having a bight (18) with an upright vertical arm having a bent clip portion and teaches that the bent clip portion is attached to a user's belt. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to attached the drill holder of Viio to a user's belt, as taught by Estabaya, in order to allow a user wearing a belt to support their drill thereon while not being used.

Regarding the manner in which a drill is supported by the holder, Estabaya teaches that the drill is placed in the holder such that the handle extends downwardly through the base until the battery compartment (BH) catches within the bight of the base. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to place a drill in the holder of Viio such that the handle of the drill extended downwardly through the base until the battery compartment caught within the bight of the base, as taught by Estabaya, in order to effectively support the drill within the holder.

Regarding the specific components of the electric drill, Examiner takes Official Notice to the fact that it is old and well known in the art for electric drills to have motors, chucks, handles, and batteries. Support for this assertion can be found in the prior art of record. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use an electric drill with these components since such drills are readily available for portable use.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Justin M. Larson whose telephone number is (571) 272-8649. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday - Thursday, 7am - 5pm.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Nathan J. Newhouse can be reached on (571) 272-4544. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
